Chestnut-breasted Whiteface Grey Honeyeater

4 day expedition 14-18 July 2025

The Chestnut-breasted Whiteface is one of the most difficult species for birders to see, because of its very small distribution in remote outback locations, and its elusive nature. It has recently disappeared from one of its key locations leaving only a few spots where it can still reliably be found. This year we're once again offering a short expedition into the outback in search of this elusive bird. Commencing in Roxby Downs (SA), accessible on direct flights from Adelaide, this trip explores areas adjacent to the Stuart Highway before heading off into little-visited outback locations to search for Chestnut- breasted Whiteface. July is a great time to go birding here and we expect to see many other great species including Thick-billed Grasswren, Gibberbird, Budgerigar, Crimson and Orange Chat, and there's always the chance of Bourke's Parrot or even Grey Falcon! During this time of the year the weather is dry and quite pleasant. We've seen Chestnut-breasted Whiteface here annually since 2006 so our chances are very good. The tour finishes with a day's birding around Alice Springs for Grey Honeyeater and a host of additional species. Don't wait: only 4 seats available!

Daily itinerary

Day 0: 14 July 2025. Please make your own way to the mining town of Roxby Downs (SA) this afternoon. There are multiple daily flights from Adelaide. Accommodation: Roxby Downs Motor Inn (en-suite motel rooms available; meals included: D).

Day 1: 15 July 2025. This morning we bird a few local patches of remnant Callitris (native pine) woodlands before departing town to travel the Oodnadatta track, a remote outback road and alternative route to Coober Pedy. Good bird species we are likely to come across include Thick-billed Grasswren, Cinnamon Quail-thrush, Black-breasted Buzzard and Gibberbird. After lunch at remote William Creek we'll complete driving the Oodnadatta track to arrive in the opal-mining town of Coober Pedy. Accommodation: Underground Motel, Coober Pedy (above-ground & underground en-suite motel rooms available; meals included: B, L, D).

Day 2: 16 July 2025. After an early breakfast we'll spend the best part of the morning searching a location near Coober Pedy where we should, weather and other factors permitting, obtain our first views of Chestnut-breasted Whiteface. This will involve a lot of walking. Other species likely here include White-winged Fairy-wren, Zebra Finch and Rufous Fieldwren which no doubt will be another highlight. After lunch we'll spend most of the afternoon driving north to arrive in the hamlet of Marla, our destination for the night. Along the way we have chances of Budgerigar, Crimson and Orange Chat, Black-breasted Buzzard and Chiming Wedgebill. Accommodation: Traveller's Rest, Marla (en-suite motel rooms; meals included: B, L, D).

Day 3: 17 July 2025. After an early breakfast we will check the sparse outback habitats around Marla where we have another very good chance of Chestnut-breasted Whiteface as well as Zebra Finch and Orange Chat while we may be lucky to come across Ground Cuckoo-shrike, Gibberbird, Chiming Wedgebill or Bourke's Parrot. We'll then have lunch and spend the afternoon driving up to Alice Springs. At the end of the day we'll retire to our accommodation in Alice Springs. Accommodation: Mercure Springs Resort, Alice Springs (en-suite motel rooms; meals included: B, L, D)

Day 4: 18 July 2025. We'll spend a day birding around Alice Springs, where Grey Honeyeater will be the main target of the day. There are plenty of other good birds to be had too: Dusky Grasswren, Rufous-crowned Emu-wren, Spinifexbird, Slaty-backed and Inland Thornbill, Western Bowerbird and Painted Finch are on the menu for today. The tour finishes around 4pm this afternoon and you are welcome to fly out any time from 5pm onwards this evening or stay on in Alice Springs for our Red Centre tour. Accommodation: none; meals: B, L). If you're staying on for our Red Centre Adventure your hotel and dinner is included tonight, and you'll receive a return-client discount. Contact us for details.
