Western SA Specialties and Splits 8-day birding tour-II

22-30 Oct 2025

As a result of the recent splits of some of Australia's western specialties, Bellbird Birding Tours is once again offering its Western SA Specialties and Splits Tour. Starting in and returning to Adelaide, this tour traverses much of South Australia's West Coast, the northern Eyre Peninsula and Nullarbor Plain towards the Western Australian border. This tour is a fast-paced trip as we'll cover some 3000 km in eight days. Focusing on the main targets of Copperback (pictured) and Nullarbor Quail-thrush, Naretha Blue Bonnet, Rufous (Sandhill) Grasswren and White-bellied Whipbird, we will also look for Western Grasswren, the newly split Western Whistler and Spotted Scrubwren. Other species we will target will include Western Yellow Robin, Blue-breasted Fairywren, Rufous Treecreeper, Rock Parrot and the western subspecies of Gilbert's Whistler and Pink Cockatoo. A recent addition to the tour itinerary is the newly split Rufous (Sandhill) Grasswren.

Another not to be missed aspect of this tour will be the amazing coastal scenery of the Great Australian Bight. We'll be running this tour during the Austral spring, generally a great time to go birding in this part of the world. There are only limited seats available on this small-group tour.

Tour starts: Ceduna, SA (flight from Adl included)

Tour finishes: Adelaide, SA.

Scheduled departure & return dates:

- 22-30 Oct 2025
- Any other time as a private tour

Price: AU$5,299 all-inclusive (discounts available).

Leader: Peter Waanders or other local SA guide.

Western Specialties and Splits 8-day birding tour II - 2025

ITINERARY

Day 0: 22 Oct '25. Make your own way (own arrangements) to Adelaide for your ~2pm flight (included) to Ceduna today, where you'll be collected from the plane. We'll meet for dinner and introductions this evening. Overnight East-West Motel, Ceduna (private en-suite motel rooms; meals included: D).

Day 1: 23 Oct '25. We'll spend a full day birding the remote 'mallee' eucalypt bush north of Ceduna where the main targets are the elusive but subtly beautiful Copperback Quail-thrush and the cryptic Rufous Grasswren. We'll travel for a few hours on rough, sandy outback tracks to reach a remote location for this elusive species. Other good birds we can find here include Western Yellow Robin, Mulga Parrot, Shy Heathwren, Gilberts Whistler and Southern Scrubrobin. After a picnic lunch at a scenic spot we'll head back to civilization. Overnight East-West Motel, Ceduna (private en-suite motel rooms; meals included: B, L, D).

Day 2: 24 Oct '25. An early departure this morning as we travel further west to the Nullarbor plain, Australia's largest treeless plain, where the main focus of the morning will be Nullarbor Quail-thrush. These birds inhabit the vast, treeless bluebush prairie and can be hard to spot as they feed inconspicuously on the ground. After lunch at the Nullarbor roadhouse we head even further west to a site for Naretha Bluebonnet (recently split from Bluebonnet). Smaller and more colorful than the original Bluebonnets, the elusive Narethas inhabit sparsely treed areas away from the road. At the end of the day we return to the Nullarbor Roadhouse. Overnight Nullarbor Roadhouse (private en-suite motel rooms; meals included: B, L, D).

Day 3: 25 Oct '25. Before breakfast we'll explore the outback north of the roadhouse for Nullarbor Quail-thrush. Other species we could encounter are Red-throat, Inland Dotterel and we will be on the lookout for Australian Bustard. After breakfast we have a backup morning for Naretha Bluebonnet, if not needed, we'll bird some more in the area before starting the journey east again, aiming to pick up anything we may have missed. We'll call in at very scenic Fowlers Bay with its unique sand dunes and beach where Sanderling, Ruddy Turnstone, Sharp-tailed Sandpiper, Red-necked Stint and White-bellied Sea-eagle can be seen. Overnight Ceduna Foreshore Motel (private en-suite motel rooms; meals included: B, L, D).

Day 4: 26 Oct '25. A few hours in the morning will be spent searching for Copperback Quail—thrush, should we still need it; otherwise this will be a back-up morning for anything we may have missed previously, otherwise there is time for a relaxed morning birding various local coastal spots while working our way south. After arriving in Pt Lincoln time permitting we'll check out the nearby national park, to familiarise ourselves with the local birdlife. Overnight Pt Lincoln Hilton Motel (private en-suite motel rooms; meals included: B, L, D).

Day 5: 27 Oct '25. We'll spend the entire day birding the vast wilderness surrounding Port Lincoln for a good chance of White-bellied Whipbird. These birds are extremely elusive and while they're readily heard singing, obtaining views of them in the dense, tall scrub is going to be a challenge. Therefore we allocate two mornings to this bird. This is a very scenic area which contains eucalypt scrub and woodlands, saltwater lakes, natural clearings, and a beautiful rocky coastline with sandy coves. Many other good species await us today, including Eastern Osprey, Sooty Oystercatcher, Hooded Plover, Southern Scrubrobin, Purple-gaped and Tawny-crowned Honeyeater, Western Yellow Robin, Blue-breasted Fairywren, Spotted Scrubwren and Rock Parrot. Overnight Pt Lincoln Hilton Motel (private en-suite motel rooms; meals included: B, L, D).

Day 6: 28 Oct '25. Our last chance for White-bellied Whipbird this morning or to pick up any other species we may still need. We'll then follow the east coast of the Eyre Peninsula to the town of Kimba located on the edge of another vast "mallee" wilderness area. Along the way we check the coastal mudflats and mangroves from the boardwalk at Elliston, where we may come across Slender-billed Thornbill, Fairy Tern, Spotted Scrubwren and dolphins. Overnight Kimba Hotel Motel (private en-suite motel rooms; meals included: B, L, D).

Day 7: 29 Oct '25. We'll make an early departure to watch the sun rise in the bush around Lake Gilles, a beautiful underexplored area of South Australia where birds of the SA outback join their Western Australian counterparts. Patches of woodland hold Rufous Treecreeper, Western Yellow Robin, Pied Honeyeater, Elegant Parrot, Hooded Robin, White-fronted Honeyeater, Black-eared Cuckoo and on shrubby flats Slender-billed Thornbill, Orange, Crimson & White-fronted Chat. We'll check the bluebush plains for Western Grasswren (former myall race of Thick-billed) and other good birds we may encounter today include White-winged Fairy-wren, Spotted Scrubwren, Redthroat, Bluebonnet and Mulga Parrot. We also have further chances of Copperback Quail-thrush and with luck, Pink Cockatoo. Overnight Standpipe Motel, Port Augusta (private en-suite motel rooms; meals included: B, L, D).

Day 8: 30 Oct '25. This morning we have a look for Western Grasswren before we travel south, following the coastal mudflats and mangroves birding for Slender-billed Thornbill, Elegant Parrot, Banded Stilt, Chirruping Wedgebill and other local species. We'll visit the Arid Lands Botanical Gardens in Port Augusta with chances of Pied and Black Honeyeater. Returning to Adelaide mid-afternoon, we finalise the bird list and drop you at the airport for your flight home (own arrangements: please don't book flights departing before 6pm), or at a hotel nearby (own arrangements). Meals included: B, L. TOUR ENDS
