We make our way through the Kimberley, travelling the famous Gibb River road in comfortable 4WD vehicles. We take a scenic drive to remote Mitchell Plateau where the elusive Black Grasswren awaits us. Expect to see up to 200 species, including Black Grasswren, White-browed Crake,

Spinifex, Partridge & Chestnut-quilled Rock-pigeon, Buff-sided Robin, Red-headed, Yellow-tinted & Kimberley Honeyeater, Dusky & Mangrove Gerygone, Yellow Chat, White-breasted & Mangrove Golden Whistler, Broad-billed Flycatcher, Sandstone Shrike-thrush, Silver-backed Butcherbird, Canary White-eye and many more. ITINERARY

Day 0: 3 August 2026

Arrival in Broome

Arrival in Broome, the gateway town to the Kimberley, and the first stop on our incredible Western Australia adventure. Getting to Broome is easy – many daily flights arrive from most major centres in Australia. Make your own way to our accommodation where we'll meet for introductions and dinner.

Overnight: Broome Time Resort, en-suite hotel room

Meals included: D

Day 1: 4 August 2026

Broome Bird Observatory

Broome, affectionately known as the 'pearl of the north' is the western gateway to the Kimberley wilderness, home to world-famous sunsets and the natural phenomenon of the Staircase to the Moon. But among birders, Roebuck Bay conjures up images of mudflats teeming with waders and shorebirds. While it is a bit early in the season for huge numbers, we stand a good chance of observing a wide variety of shorebirds, including rarer species such as Greater and Lesser Sandplover and Asian Dowitcher.

Today we will visit the famous Broome Bird Observatory from where we'll explore the Roebuck Bay mudflats and neighbouring mangroves in search of waders (with chance of Asian Dowitcher, Broad-billed Sandpiper and who knows: Common Redshank) and other shorebirds, as well as Striated Heron, Eastern Reef Egret, White-breasted and Mangrove Whistler, Broad-billed Flycatcher, Dusky Gerygone, Red-headed Honeyeater, Yellow White-eye and many more excellent birds!

Overnight: Broome Time Resort, en-suite hotel rooms

Meals included: B, L, D

Day 2: 5 August 2026

Broome to Mt Hart

Today we commence our adventure into the Kimberley in earnest. At our first stop in Derby, we visit the old wharf to look for mangrove species such as Dusky Gerygone and Red-headed Honeyeater. Derby, located on the edge of the King Sound, is believed to have the highest tides of any Australian port with 11 meters (36 feet) of tidal difference!

Asian Dowitcher, Red-headed Honeyeater, Northern Shrike, Black-necked Stork, and Mitchell Falls (Day 5). All photos by Peter Waanders.

We'll soon find ourselves onto the famous Gibb River Road leading into to the heart of the Wunaamin Miliwundi (King Leopold) Ranges Conservation Park. The scenery along the road is impressive and there are many small creek crossings on the way in. Sometime during the day, we arrive at Mt Hart Station, which has good accommodation, with tropical gardens and orchards surrounding the homestead, green lawns, and good birding as it is located alongside the Barker River. At Mt Hart Wilderness Lodge we enjoy an authentic Kimberleys homestead experience.

Overnight: Mt Hart Wilderness Lodge, private permanent 'glamping' tent with normal bed(s), electricity and private en-suite bathroom
 Meals included: B, L, D

Day 3: 6 August 2026

Mt Hart Station

A full day to bird and relax around this fabulous property. The birding around the grounds of the homestead is very pleasant. We may see Australian Bustard and Spotted Nightjar, Great Bowerbird and Green Oriole (subspecies of Yellow Oriole) and with luck, Masked Owl in the evening. We'll take short drives out to various waterholes and other birdy places looking for Banded, Bar-breasted, Yellow-tinted and White-gaped Honeyeater, Green-backed Gerygone, Buff-sided Robin, Little Woodswallow, Leaden Flycatcher and many more, often providing good photographic opportunities.

Day 4: 7 August 2026

Mt Hart to Drysdale Station

Today we'll bird our way along the Gibb River Road east and after some time we'll turn off to Drysdale Station. Flocks of Varied Lorikeets and Budgerigar abound. Drysdale Station is our half-way point between Broome and Kununurra. Located on the scenic Drysdale River just off the iconic Gibb River Road, Drysdale Station is a half-million acre, fully operational cattle station that welcomes guests within a genuine outback environment. The very scenic Drysdale River is nearby and excellent for birding. We'll be looking for interesting birds here such as Black-tailed Treecreeper, Northern Rosella, Crimson Finch, Purple-crowned Fairywren and a variety of Honeyeater species.

Mitchell Falls Plateau

Today is set to be one of the most exciting days of the entire trip as we search for Black Grasswren around the famous Mitchell Falls Plateau. We'll have an early departure for the short drive to the nearby Mitchell Falls area, where we'll spend the morning exploring the landscape, with its mix of tall grasses interspersed with huge boulders, and spinifex-clad slopes, in search of the elusive Black Grasswren. You'll need to have a good level of fitness for this search. Having found them (fingers crossed!), we'll turn our focus to other birds, such as Kimberley Honeyeater, Chestnut-quilled Rock Pigeon, Partridge Pigeon, Buff-sided Robin and more. In the afternoon, we can relax in the natural pools or at the lodge.

Back at Drysdale, we'll do some birding in the grounds before dinner.

We'll return to Kununurra for lunch while tallying up the final bird list of what no doubt will have been a fantastic Kimberley tour!
