

Tropical & Far North Queensland

9 - 17 August 2027

Tropical Far North Queensland is without doubt one of Australia's top birding destinations. A great variety of tropical habitats including rainforests, palm-fringed beaches, mangrove-lined mudflats, savannahs and cool mountain ranges result in a bird diversity unparalleled elsewhere in the country.

Commencing in fabulous Iron Range NP, we'll traverse Cape York birding all the way to Artemis Station before we head to Yungaburra in the Atherton Tablelands. During this tour we aim to find all Tropical Far North Queensland specialties. Expect over 200 species including all the endemics and other important birds this area is well-known for such as Magnificent Riflebird, Frill-necked Monarch, Blue-faced Parrot-finch, Lovely Fairy-wren, White-streaked Honeyeater, Papuan Frogmouth, nesting Red Goshawks, Palm Cockatoo, Eclectus Parrot, Yellow-bellied Kingfisher and many more, including of course the rare Southern Cassowary.

We'll have rare access to Golden-shouldered Parrot nesting sites; explore the Lakefield region; we'll go night spotting for owls and mammals; and we'll spend two days in the Iron Range rainforests, one of Australia's most important ecosystems. We'll also look for mammals such as Bandicoot, Sugar Glider, Northern Striped Possum, Red-necked Wallaby and Tree Kangaroo. Read on below for the full itinerary and checklist!

Days 1 & 2: 10 & 11 August 2027 Iron Range

We'll spend two full days in the rainforests of the Iron Range, one of Australia's premier and unique ecosystems. From tall forest to heath to coastal bush, Iron Range has a diversity of habitat, and a range of wildlife found nowhere else on the planet. We target gems such as Marbled Frogmouth, Large-tailed Nightjar, Yellow-bellied Kingfisher, Red-cheeked Parrot, Brown Booby, a variety of Terns, Black-eared Catbird, Fawn-breasted Bowerbird, Green-backed Honeyeater, Grey Whistler, Northern Scrubrobin, Magnificent Riflebird, Trumpet Manucode, Tawny-breasted and White-streaked Honeyeater, White-eared and Frill-necked Monarch, Lemon-bellied and Yellow-legged Flycatcher, White-faced Robin, Lovely Fairywren and the highly sought-after Palm Cockatoo and Eclectus Parrot and many more. At some stage we head to the other side of the Iron Range and adjacent coasts, around the scenic settlement of Portland Roads. Here we'll search for Spotted Whistling-duck, Tropical Scrubwren, Double-eyed Fig-Parrot, Mangrove Robin, Eclectus Parrot, Frill-necked Monarch, Tooth-billed and Fawn-breasted Bowerbird, Green-backed and Varied Honeyeaters plus any birds we may have missed earlier. A final morning birding the rainforests of Iron Range picking up any species still needed and no doubt seeing more of the species we've seen on previous days. Then it's time to head south on Cape York Peninsula. The Peninsula Development Road traverses a range of habitats. Late afternoon birding in the Lakefield region we'll look for Black-backed Butcherbird, Star Finch, Black-throated Finch, Bar-breasted and Rufous-throated Honeyeater. We'll stay out for dusk, having a good chance to pick up some great night birds including, with luck, Grass Owl.

Day 4: 13 August 2027
Musgrave to Daintree area

We depart early to go birding in the northern sections of the Lakefield region, searching for two major targets: the beautiful and very restricted Golden-shouldered Parrot and the rare Red Goshawk. Both species will take some time to track down. Other good birds we'll come across include Rufous-throated and Rufous-banded Honeyeater, Star Finch, Black-breasted Buzzard and Black-necked Stork. After lunch we swap the dry sclerophyll forests of the Peninsula for the cool, dense tropical mountain forest of Mt Lewis. Here we'll be targeting the elusive Fernwren and Blue-faced Parrot-finch, before heading down to the palm-fringed coast of Mossman in preparation for our explorations of the Daintree River and rainforest tomorrow.

Overnight: Demi View Motel, Mossman, en-suite rooms
Meals included: B, L, D

Day 5: 14 August 2027
Daintree river to Tablelands

This morning we'll take the "Daintree Eco Cruise" which should be a highlight of the trip, to see Estuarine Crocodile and birds including Papuan Frogmouth, Azure and Little Kingfisher, Black Bittern, Radjah Shelduck, Double-eyed Fig-parrot, Large-billed Gerygone and a good chance of Great-billed Heron. Birding the areas around the amazing, millions-of-years old Daintree rainforest we'll be looking for Shining Flycatcher, Bar-shouldered Dove, Pacific Koel, Scaly-breasted Lorikeet, Hornbill Friarbird and Dusky Honeyeater. We'll have another chance of Fernwren and Blue-faced Parrotfinch if needed, before heading into the hinterland of Cairns: the Atherton Tablelands, where we may see Brolga and Sarus Crane. After a delightful day's birding, we will arrive in the lush, tropical highland rainforest around Yungaburra, in the beautiful waterfalls and crater lakes district. We'll look for Platypus, Brush

Blue-faced Honeyeater, Red Goshawk, Black Bittern, Pied Imperial-Pigeon. All photos by Peter Waanders.

Turkey mounds, and Tooth-billed Bowerbird bowers as well as Victoria's Riflebird. After dinner we'll look for mammals such as Sugar Gliders, Striped Possums and Bandicoots.

Overnight: Lodge near Yungaburra, en-suite rooms

We then head to wonderful Mount Hypipamee. Around the main carpark and picnic area, there is a chance of Golden Bowerbird, particularly in fruiting trees, as well as Southern Cassowary, Tooth-billed Bowerbird, Spotted Catbird, Lewin's and Bridled Honeyeater and the rainforest specialists: Fernwren, Emerald Dove, Chowchilla, Brown Gerygone, Atherton and Yellow-throated Scrubwren, Pale yellow Robin and Mountain Thornbill. Other likely birds include Australian Brush Turkey, Orange-footed Scrubfowl, Superb and Wompoo Fruit-dove, Double-eyed Fig Parrot, Figbird, Black Butcherbird, Green Oriole and Noisy Pitta, amongst others. Later in the afternoon we bird the tropical parks and streamside forests in the vicinity of Yungaburra. It is a tremendous birding area. At night, we may find Sooty Owl, and mammals such as Tree Kangaroo, Long-nosed Bandicoot, Sugar Glider, Northern Striped Possum and Red-necked Wallaby.

Overnight: Lodge near Yungaburra, en-suite rooms

Day 8: 17 August 2027 Final morning in Cairns

The tropical habitats surrounding Cairns contain some of Australia's richest bird- and wildlife. One of the main targets of the morning will be the endangered Southern Cassowary. This large, flightless, dinosaur-like creature can be surprisingly elusive! While looking for it, we should also encounter Black-faced Monarch, Graceful- and Yellow-spotted Honeyeater, Green Pygmy Goose, White-browed Crake and more. At lunch back in Cairns we'll check the mudflats off the Esplanade for waders, and then it is time to say goodbye to your guide! You are free to travel home or onwards any time this afternoon.
